Title: Tri State Enforcement Regional Authority to supply renowned contracted security and special police services in the Altoona, PA area.

11-22-2019 - The main purpose of law enforcement in any state is to ensure and maintain safety, security, peace, and dignity. Many governmental security and police organizations have indulged in various activities in an effort to enhance public protection, having mixed results in many cases. In the Mid-Atlantic region of the United States, a privately held authority is delivering extraordinary protective services and enhancing public safety, and is an organization that is astonishingly effective. TSE - Tri State Enforcement, a progressive, privately held regional authority, is primarily engaged to provide virtuous protective security and policing services. The agency contracts with various government and non-government entities for delivery of services, with a strong focus on securing and protecting organizations, businesses, housing, municipalities, and critical infrastructure. TSE maintains a footprint throughout numerous Mid-Atlantic states, and is proud to announce a new location of TSE; located in Altoona, in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In maintaining a strenuous recruitment process, only highly qualified, well educated, and highly proficient officers will be considered for appointment to the Altoona office. TSE has consistently recruited only the most critical thinkers and law enforcement practitioners, to ensure the highest level of safety, service, and protection is maintained throughout the Mid-Atlantic region. The TSE Altoona office will deliver services throughout Bedford, Blair, Cambria, Clearfield, and Somerset counties.

The growing local demand for enhanced security and protection is what led TSE to open the Altoona office, which will lead to increased safety and security for perspective and current partners in the local area. With unstable crime statistics, and seemingly more instances of major incidents throughout the country, it has become an increasing priority to take preventative and effective measures at locations having risk of an incident.

It's for these reasons and more that TSE came into existence, and maintains a staff of expert law enforcement practitioners. TSE delivers services to government and corporate entities, providing workplace violence prevention, court and judicial service, physical security and special police services, executive protection, housing community security and police services; all of which will be available by the officers working from the TSE Altoona office. TSE and it's officers are equipped with the best currently-available equipment and technologies, and officers are afforded world-class training and continuing education opportunities. It's for these reasons and more that TSE is the leader of innovative and effective contracted policing, public safety, and protective security services for their partners and clients. Many organizations desire to partner with TSE as a result of past crimes and incidents, but many seek a partnership with TSE to both upgrade their security posture and prevent the likelihood and severity of future incidents and crimes. TSE officers exercise immense effort to prevent acts of crime and terror. With the superior qualifications and capabilities of agency personnel, there's little wonder how TSE is able to provide such a highly effective and professional suite of services. TSE rapidly becomes an integral asset of partner organizations, with officers who are specialized in rendering medical aid to the injured and ill, coordinate and carry out evacuations in times of emergency or disaster, and take immediate and effective action to prevent and mitigate a variety of dangerous and criminal incidents. These are a few of the reasons TSE is known to be the region's best security guard company.
